BUILDING UPDATE

(late Tuesday night)

Dear Friend and <<Partner's First Name>>,

Apologies for not sending you a building update last Friday. We had a big push within the pub to move things along and we simply ran out of time.

The electricians have just finished their "first fixings" for the bar area. This means all the cables have been put in place but are not yet connected up. There are miles and miles of cables that have now been installed covering lighting, security, fire, audio, video, safety, etc.

Between Saturday's Volunteer Day and the Weekday Warriors, the plaster boarding in the main pub will be completed this week. The pillars and beams are now finished. The main task for the next 36 hours is to fix the pink plaster boards (fire retardant) on to the ceiling.

The plumbers have been working on providing water and heating to the ladies toilet. In this picture you can also see some of the new colours to be used throughout The Swan. The boiler and basic controls are all connected and tested but need the final electricity supply to go live. Main radiators will be fitted later.

The front of the bar is now starting to be modified. The door at the ladies toilet has been removed and windows replaced. The door at the alcove will be next which will provide more space in the bar. Other work such as the new stable door and the second side entrance needs to be planned in.

If you pass by on Wednesday, you will see the changes as we really get stuck in using the work of various weekends.

What's happening over the coming weeks? There is still a lot to do before we can even start talk about painting the pub and laying the oak floor. We have to:

- plaster throughout the pub area;
- finish the two toilets;
- construct the bar itself and install all the equipment
- install all the equipment and power in the cellar;
- connect up all the wires to the bits of equipment, lights, etc;
- once the plaster has dried, paint throughout;
- and final lay the oak floor.

Lots still to do.

We'll be giving another update later this week as so much is happening.

If you are about during the week, please feel come down and help us get the place ready. Come join the expanding team getting The Swan ready for flight.

Warm regards,

Will & Richard
