Dear Friend,

Key points for your safety

Inline with government guidelines we are implementing some changes for your safety and that of our bar staff and supporting volunteers. These are not too onerous and we ask that everyone follows them.

These can be summarised as:

- Please don't come to the pub if you or any of your family are unwell.
- Sanitise your hands on entry and regularly thereafter.
- Employ social distancing at all times.
- Follow the arrows for the one-way system.
- Introduce yourself by texting the pub upon arrival.
- Table service and card payments only.
- Please remain seated (this includes children).
- There will be no organised events in the short-term.
- Help our staff.

There is obviously a lot of detail that the team have worked on to get to these main points. For further information please visit our website.

Staying Safe at The Swan

We would also like to draw your attention to the TVs. They will be playing a summary of these instructions. As we learn more, and guidelines change, please use the website and TV to get the very latest information.

I Want A Sneak Peek of the TV Content

We do ask that you respect Matt and the Bar Staff team. They have undertaken specific training and have a lot more responsibilities now to keep you safe. Please help them. Thank you in advance.

This weekend only

For this first weekend we have an additional constraint due to the ongoing building work on The Coach House. So for this weekend, The Courtyard won't be open until 5pm on both days. Therefore we will be operating indoors only between 12 and 5pm with indoor tables being bookable by calling the pub on 07458 300026. It's first come, first served with bookings in ONE hour blocks possible.

It may seem a little odd that we're doing building work on our opening weekend but it's necessary to get The Coach House ready for the autumn term and to make it easy for the builders who are doing this as a massive charitable act for The Swan.

Also, we are unable to accept "Safe Pub Life" vouchers this first weekend as we bed down our new processes and procedures. We will start taking these early next week, just ask the Bar Staff for details.

Warm regards,

Will & Richard
